VOL. XIII. NO. 38.

GREENVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1911.

50c. PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE

FROSTING FOR CAKES

FULL DESCRIPTION OF PROCESS OF MAKING IT RIGHT.

Success Depends Mainly on Steady and Brisk Whipping—How Icing is Colored and Applied for Decoration.

Take some paper; parchment or a sheet of very thin notepaper, and rolling it into the shape of a funnel, pin it together, cutting off the lower end just above the bottom.

Make frosting as follows. Put whites of four eggs into a bowl and whip them with a strong whip or whisk until they are dry. The success of the frosting depends entirely on the steady and brisk whipping between additions of sugar. Add one tablespoon of confectioner's sugar, which has been carefully sifted, and whip briskly for three minutes, then add another tablespoon of sugar and whip as before. After third tablespoon has been added, add half teaspoon of lemon juice and whip briskly again. Continue this process until mixture is stiff enough to hold in its form.

The icing should now be divided into as many parts as there are colors, and each portion colored delicately to the desired shade. Care must be taken to mix the paste thoroughly through frosting, as otherwise specks of color will appear in it.

Round loaf cakes lend themselves better to decorations than square ones. It should be fed and put away to stand for at least one hour. The remainder of icing should be kept covered with a damp cloth.

Draw a circle the size of the cake on a piece of paper, and draw any design, such as flowers, figures, etc., on the paper. Perforate design with a pin, thus making a pattern. If paper is firm you may place it upon frosted cake, rough side of paper on cake, rubbing gently so that pin pricks will show in frosting, or you may place paper on cake and sprinkle over it a little finely powdered charcoal so that when paper is taken off the pattern is left on cake. Then take the funnel and partly fill it with icing of desired color. Fold the top of funnel over icing, so that none of the icing will flow over top of funnel when contents are being forced out of the bottom, holding funnel in one hand move it along the lines of the designs, using the other hand to squeeze icing on pattern. It is a good idea to always begin in center and work outward.

Venetian Eggs.
Put into the pan two tablespoonfuls of butter and a tablespoonful of finely chopped onion. Add a bit of bay leaf and, if desired, a half blade of mace. As soon as the onion has colored, remove bay leaf, mace and a cupful of cheese cut in small pieces, a teaspoonful of salt, a salt spoonful of paprika and three eggs slightly beaten. Cook until the eggs are of a creamy consistency, stirring constantly and scraping from the bottom of the pan, then pour over slices of delicately toasted bread.

Grapefruit Glasses.
Nothing is more annoying in the morning when one has to bolt one's breakfast in a hurry than to find the grapefruit sliding all over the saucer. Pretty grapefruit glasses may be bought which are just large enough to hold a half of the fruit.

Some of them are in plain glass, with the regular straight-cut top, while others have a rolling top of tinted glass. These last are pretty if the tinted portion matches the design in the breakfast china.

Braised Steak.
One pound and a half of round steak of medium thickness. Spread on meat board and pound flour into it, first on one side and then on the other, until you can get no more into it. Place in a hot buttered pan long enough to sear quickly on both sides. Then pour in a little water (hot), cover closely and stand on back of stove to simmer for two hours. See that water is kept in the pan so that the meat does not cook dry, but it must cook slowly. If done according to directions it will almost "melt in your mouth."

Russian Apple Pie.
Peel and core eight large apples, put into a baking dish with a little water and bake until tender. Press through a sieve into a large bowl and set aside to cool and chill. Add three-quarters of a cup of sugar and the whites of four or five eggs beaten stiff, with a few grains of salt and a little lemon juice and grated peel to season. Beat this mixture until very white and light, turn into a buttered dish and bake about 20 minutes. Serve hot with sugar and cream.

Won't Stick to the Pan.
In baking cakes, gems and other things which are apt to come out of the pan rough or torn at the bottom, try cooling the bottom of the pan quickly on ice or on a cloth soaked with cold water. The cake will come out of the pan easily and perfectly whole.

Sand Tart.
Two cups of sugar, one of butter, three of flour, two eggs, leaving out the white of one. Roll out thin and cut in heart-shape cakes with a cutter. Spread the white of the egg on top, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and press a blanched almond or raisin in the center.

CLEAN HOUSE ALL AT ONCE

Best Way If Family Can Be Banished—Hints on the Spring Ordeal.

"The earliest way to clean house is to do it all at once, turning everything upside down, having all carpets taken up at the same time, all the windows washed in succession, all the paint scrubbed in one piece of work. If the family can be banished, this plan may be followed, but when the ordinary business of the home has to go on, such drastic measures should never be practiced. The house should be cleaned a room at a time, but before going to these make an attack on the closets," says Christine Terhune Herriek in Woman's Home Companion.

"Devote one day to the china closet. Take the china and glass out, put it on a table and scour the shelves. Have a blow-gun and inject insect powder into any cracks or crevices of the shelves as a discouragement to invading insects. Wipe off every piece of tableware before you put it back and discard ruthlessly broken and cracked pieces.

"When you put your china on the shelves use care in its arrangement. Tall pieces should go at the back, and so should piles of saucers and plates. Be careful not to make the piles of plates too tall. Plates of delicate china at the bottom of a stack may be cracked and broken by the weight of the china upon them. Turn the glasses and tumblers upside down.

"Go over the contents of your sideboard, especially the table linen, laying aside such pieces as need mending and are worth it and putting the hopelessly worn objects aside with your store of old linen. Wipe out the sideboard drawers and let them get entirely dry before laying in fresh papers and restoring the linen to its place. Use the insect powder here, too."

THIS MAKES MEAT TENDER

Implement With Cutter Wheels Which, Rolled Over a Steak, Loosen Up the Fibers.

Even the best of butcher shops sometimes have tough meat, and at the other shops it is a toss-up whether you get a good steak or not, unless you are willing to pay fancy prices. A Pennsylvania man has invented an implement for making meat tender that will be found useful in any family, but especially in households that cannot afford to buy the choicest cuts. A handle with a fork to it has a shaft running through the ends of the fork. Revolving on this shaft are a lot of sharp little cutter wheels, with teeth that will bite through sole leather, if necessary. When a steak is found to be too tough, the cook can lay it on the kitchen table before putting it on to be fried or broiled and run this implement back and forth over it until the fibers have been loosened sufficiently to make it tender. There are other devices for this purpose, among them a hammer with sharp projections in the head, but the wheels are said to have the advantage of penetrating all the way through an ordinary steak and doing the work more rapidly.

Improved Cheese Cakes.
Two cups of cheese, one cup of sugar, one-fourth cup of melted butter, one lemon rind and juice, one salt spoon of salt, one half cup of milk or cream, three eggs beaten separately, then beaten all together well, adding stiff whites last. Line pans with rich pastry. Bake like a custard. This recipe fills a deep square pie plate. To be eaten cold. Grate nutmeg over the top before baking.

Rice Balls.
Take hot cooked rice, season with salt, pepper and butter, and add very finely minced olives and parsley—a tablespoonful of olives and a teaspoonful of parsley to each cupful of rice. Mix well and form into small balls the size of a walnut and set away to get cold. When ready to use dip each ball in beaten egg, roll in ground peanuts and fry a golden brown in boiling fat. Drain and serve as a garnish to meat or game.

Cranberry Frappe.
One quart of cranberries, two cups of water, two cups sugar, juice of two lemons. Cook cranberries and water for eight minutes. Force through sieve, then add sugar and cook ten minutes. Strain juice of lemon in and cook five minutes longer.

Quite Literal.
She (Indignantly)—Look at this piece of goods which has just come out of the wash! How could the man who sold it to me tell me the colors were fast?

The White Frost.

The young moon takes a frightened survey of the north woods and hides its shyness behind the cypress swamp west of the lake, leaving the sky to a million stars. The chill which had come creeping out as soon as the red sun went down grows bolder and colder. A blustering wind had vexed the trees all day, but it has hushed. A visitor is expected, and there can be no roistering disorder.

Jack Frost, the most brilliant courier in the court of King Winter, is en route, with a numerous retinue. He will pass this way to prepare for the later coming of his august and portentous master. The night grows still and solemn and cold.

Mere humans, seeing their breath exhaled in misty streamers, shiver and hurry to take numb fingers to the comforting fire, where a stump of oak or hickory burns in white heat. There they huddle and tell sad stories of the deaths of kings until the chill, creeping up their backs for all that their faces roast, drives them to bed and blankets.

Then Jack Frost, with a million elves, comes marching by. He draws a finger across the water bucket to see the film of ice cover it. Not a leaf in the forest rustled, although each is touched by a marching elf. The oak turns a deeper red, the maple a richer crimson, the poplar a more brilliant yellow. All but the pine, the spruce, the hemlock, the cedar, the balsam acknowledge a message from their sovereign. The evergreens are the wild tribesmen of the woods. They know no overlord. Spring may coax them to a lighter, fresher green at the limb tips, but neither Jack Frost nor King Winter, his master, can force them to show another color than that they wear until fire or decay overcomes them. The maple, a patient, an anachorite, may rend his garments and shed his plumage, but the other evergreens are obdurate and independent.

Annually Jack Frost observes their contumacy and passes on. Annually they defy his painters. They do so now, although the other trees hang out their most gorgeous colors, the tapestries flung out by loyal subjects.

Throughout the cold, still night the favorite courier of the coming king marches with his elves through the valley, over hill and across lake. The first light of coming day arrests the progress. Mere humans, arising with shudders to chill conditions, find the trail of that triumphant march marked glisteningly in the glowing sunlight.

Log, stump, and turf, the blackened trunk of fallen tree, the split wood in the pile, the sled by the side of the road, the handle of the ax, the clover at the side of the trail, the wintergreen, bright in the long grass, the face of all outdoors is covered with a shining, filmy mass of white—the trail of Jack Frost and his elves.

They were so industrious in their triumphal march that the silver of their accoutrements was worn away and a fine white dust, unsubstantial as the dust of fairy silver, fell and powdered the ground.

The first rays of the sun melt it. The evidences of a fairy march will not endure, but mere humans, early rising and seeing the silvered land, know that the handsome, brilliant courier of old King Winter, with his numerous following, has been by in the night.

THE CAMPBELL FAMILY.

Some days ago Mr. Otto A. Rothert and myself traveling west of Greenville making some observations passed a house that was built by one David Campbell eleven years more than a century ago, built in 1800. Although the house has stood the storm and tempest of years for over a century, it seems but little dilapidated and looks like it might last for many years to come. This house is now occupied by one Charles Carneal, who seems to love and cherish it as a comfortable home. In this house many persons have lived and died. Its founder, David Campbell, died in another state.

The Campbell family that were among the early settlers of the county have disappeared long ago. We do not think that there is one of the name of those families extant in the county. The Campbells that were among the first settlers of the county, their ancestors were originally from the highlands of Scotland and can be traced back to the first part of the seventeenth century to one Alexander Campbell, who lived at Inderrary, Argyleshire, Scotland; his son, William Campbell, with his family, came to America and settled in Virginia; William Campbell's son, David Campbell, who was born 1710 and known as black David Campbell, because of his dark hair, eyes and complexion, and to distinguish him from white David Campbell, his cousin, whose hair was light, complexion fair and eyes blue. Black David Campbell was the father of William Campbell who married Mary Allison; this William Campbell was captain in the regular army, fought in the French and Indian wars also in the revolution of 1776; he was general of the militia and was called general Campbell; he, with his family, came to Kentucky, where he died. His family consisting of David, Charles and William, Jane, Annie, Mary, Martha and Betsy. Mary married Chalen Guard. Martha married Timothy Guard. Betsy married Hays. This part of general Campbell's family located at Equality, Illinois. David, Charles and William Campbell, with their mother, located in Muhlenberg county. Charles Campbell married Nancy Oates, a daughter of Jesse Oates and located in Hopkins county where he lived and died. Some years afterwards William Campbell and his mother moved to Equality, Illinois, where they died. David Campbell married Mary Campbell, located about four and one half miles west of Greenville in 1800, and built the house we have referred to. Jane Campbell married William Martin, the grandfather of the writer. They located five miles west of Greenville where they lived and died in 1854. Anne Campbell, a daughter of General Campbell, married Maj. William Campbell, a first cousin of her father; he first located at Greenville and built a house where the LaMeade Hotel now stands; he sold out and moved to Nashville in 1820. His daughter, Cintha, married Samuel Campbell, a distant relative and a son of Col. William Campbell, who also located near Greenville and was the father-in-law of Judge Alney McLean. Charles F. Wing and Ephraim Brank.

Turning now to David Campbell who built the house in question, his family consisted of William, John, Charles, Robert and Thomas, Mary and Betsy. Mary married a Douglas. Betsy married Givens. They both settled in Missouri. William, Charles and Thomas went to California in 1839. Robert located in the western part of Kentucky. William Campbell married a daughter of Benjamin Hancock in Muhlenberg county; he was the father of ten Campbell who became a prominent man in California. John Campbell remained in Muhlenberg county and died in 1875 in his 80th year of age; his family consisted of John, David, Land, James and Lewis, Viola and Margaret; they have all died and disappeared from the county; the two daughters perhaps survive in another county in the state and the families of Gen. William Campbell and that of Col. William Campbell have no representative name now in the county, while the house built by David Campbell in 1800 still stands a monument of a lost and almost forgotten family; such is fate as time moves on. The Campbell families of this county were more or less connected by ancestral lineage. RONDO.

A Voter Hears Speeches.

October 12th., we heard a speech by Judge O'Rear to a crowded court house in Greenville. His speech was that of a statesman and a jurist. His proposals and propositions were based upon principles and policies calculated to elevate the people of his state upon a more perfect form of good government. Every one who heard him must honestly admit that his speech was untainted and untarnished. It was plain, direct and logical, free from any defamatory accusations of persons and parties.

Judge O'Rear was followed on Friday by A. O. Stanley, who delivered a speech to a small crowd. His speech was clownish, ludicrous and ridiculous, and we might say, impolitic and ineffective. His discourse was simply the spitting and spluttering of sarcastic criticism and abuse, mixed with other ingredients, tending only to tickle the fancy and amusement of his audience with his stimulated wit and humor. He indulged in egotism and self-praise, which is considered a scandal, if the people had believed him they would have thought that he would never taste death, that the Lord would take him and that he would form a trio of human beings translated to Heaven by the holy angels. All speeches of such character ought to be denounced by all good people everywhere and all men of such calibre should be stood to the rear. We have witnessed many a race made for Governor in Kentucky, but never before have we seen such an array of political demagogues and shysters of Kentucky and of other states like frightened buffaloes dashing and bellowing over Kentucky and furiously attacking one of the purest and best men of our state with vile and slanderous accusations; with unfounded charges, they come like ravenous and hungry wolves after an innocent lamb, making speeches fraught with vituperation, censure and sophistry, trying to make false impressions to deceive and mislead the people from the support of a good man. They come posing as political saints and sanctified office holders, declaring that they believe that Judge O'Rear is insincere in his statements. Judge O'Rear and all those that have different views from them have the same right to so consider and censure them, which makes an offset. They denounce Judge O'Rear for his advocacy of the principles of the Republican party. They not only hurl their vile daggers at Judge O'Rear but at President Taft and tell the people that they have lost a sum of money variously estimated, ranging from one hundred and fifty million to three hundred and fifty million dollars by the President vetoing a few tariff bills that were passed by a called Congress last spring, the session extending through the entire summer at a great cost to the people. Now as to the result of the vetoing of the tariff bills, they know as much about it as a hog does holiday; they speculate only on one side of the tariff problem. A tariff enactment and law always has two sides and effect. The President could say with as much propriety and consistency that by vetoing the tariff bills he saved the country of a loss that would have occurred in the depression of the business industries of the nation that would have far exceeded the gain that would have been realized by not vetoing the bills and perhaps save the country from destructive panic that would have stagnated business and so crippled and disorganized the Democratic party that it would have required a quarter of a century to have recuperated its lost strength and to breathe easy. We are of the opinion that it would have been more rational and manly in Clark, Underwood and James, instead of howling around over the country trying to deceive and mislead the people, after the President vetoed the unwise tariff bills, to have sent him a card of thanks and congratulations for his great gratitude in vetoing the dangerous tariff bills and thereby maintaining the peace and the prosperity of the nation and the preservation of the Democratic party.

On October the 16th, we listened to an address of Mrs. O'Hara, St. Louis, to a good sized crowd at the court house, where she advocated the doctrine of the Socialist Party. She seemed to be quite a glib talker and her discourse was skillfully handled, her arguments were well guarded with references and illustrations, so as to exclude much doubt of the soundness of the Socialist theory. Her chief object seemed to be to convince her audience, and especially those who were inclined to accept her views, of the necessity of adopting the Socialist doctrine for state and national rule. We considered her an expert sophist. She sought to convey the idea and impression upon the minds of her hearers that capital was the master of labor, and that the wealthy oppressed the poor, that under the administration of our laws the accumulation and concentration of the wealth of our nation produced and increased poverty, by the spirit of favoritism, being exercised in the legislative enactments and judicial rulings of our laws and constitution. She adroitly pictured and presented the conditions and the advantages that the wealthy had over the poor under our present form of government, and in doing this she was able to arouse sympathy and enthusiasm among some of her hearers. Her talk was to some extent incendiary in nature, calculated to mislead and had a tendency to encourage a feeling of revolt from a loyalty to our present form of government and its administrations. Speeches and talks of such character are calculated to disunite and to breed discontent that ought not to exist for the peace and prosperity of our country. But she, like many others, we suppose, is so crazed and deluded with a cultivated sentiment of revolt that she cannot be convinced of the error she is advocating. No doubt she is honest in her endeavors and believes that she is doing right. It is to be regretted that many of the people of this country and persons of intelligence have become deluded with the vain idea as that which is entertained by the Socialist. There never was a government in all the history of the world that has existed under the rulings and administration of the Socialist doctrine and discipline, and we think never shall; for such a system of government can never be progressive and prosperous. She stated that she believed that the Socialist doctrine and principles could be adopted, inaugurated and executed under our present form of government; but such an idea and assertion is absurd; to institute the Socialist principles and policies to be practiced under our present form of government, would be to require a repeal and revision of all our state and national constitutions and our statutory laws, under which our nation has long prospered; and if the people of our nation should agree to adopt the Socialist form of government it would be a leap in the dark and a flight after the speculation of fancy. The Socialist idea of civil government is without a formula or chart and has only been tried in small societies and organizations which have always proved a failure and unsuccessful in way of satisfaction and advancement. A Socialist government would simply mean a lapse backward, but we hope for better things. It is not our purpose, in this short article, to discuss the Socialist question before the people.

seemed to be to convince her audience, and especially those who were inclined to accept her views, of the necessity of adopting the Socialist doctrine for state and national rule. We considered her an expert sophist. She sought to convey the idea and impression upon the minds of her hearers that capital was the master of labor, and that the wealthy oppressed the poor, that under the administration of our laws the accumulation and concentration of the wealth of our nation produced and increased poverty, by the spirit of favoritism, being exercised in the legislative enactments and judicial rulings of our laws and constitution. She adroitly pictured and presented the conditions and the advantages that the wealthy had over the poor under our present form of government, and in doing this she was able to arouse sympathy and enthusiasm among some of her hearers. Her talk was to some extent incendiary in nature, calculated to mislead and had a tendency to encourage a feeling of revolt from a loyalty to our present form of government and its administrations. Speeches and talks of such character are calculated to disunite and to breed discontent that ought not to exist for the peace and prosperity of our country. But she, like many others, we suppose, is so crazed and deluded with a cultivated sentiment of revolt that she cannot be convinced of the error she is advocating. No doubt she is honest in her endeavors and believes that she is doing right. It is to be regretted that many of the people of this country and persons of intelligence have become deluded with the vain idea as that which is entertained by the Socialist. There never was a government in all the history of the world that has existed under the rulings and administration of the Socialist doctrine and discipline, and we think never shall; for such a system of government can never be progressive and prosperous. She stated that she believed that the Socialist doctrine and principles could be adopted, inaugurated and executed under our present form of government; but such an idea and assertion is absurd; to institute the Socialist principles and policies to be practiced under our present form of government, would be to require a repeal and revision of all our state and national constitutions and our statutory laws, under which our nation has long prospered; and if the people of our nation should agree to adopt the Socialist form of government it would be a leap in the dark and a flight after the speculation of fancy. The Socialist idea of civil government is without a formula or chart and has only been tried in small societies and organizations which have always proved a failure and unsuccessful in way of satisfaction and advancement. A Socialist government would simply mean a lapse backward, but we hope for better things. It is not our purpose, in this short article, to discuss the Socialist question before the people.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation is Issued by President Taft.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—President Taft today issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation, calling upon citizens of the United States to celebrate Thursday the 30th of November, next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. The proclamation reads as follows:

"The people of this land, having by long sanction and practice set apart toward the close of each passing year a day on which to cease from their labors and assemble for the purpose of giving praise to Him who is the author of the blessings they have enjoyed, it is my duty as Chief Executive to designate at this time the day for the fulfillment of this devout purpose.

"Our country has been signally favored in many ways. The round of the season has brought rich harvests. Our industries have thriven far beyond our domestic needs, the production of our labor are daily finding enlarged markets abroad. We have been free from the curses of pestilence, of famine and of war. Our national councils have furthered the cause of peace in other lands and the spirit of benevolence has brought us into closer touch with other peoples, to the strengthening of the bonds of fellowship and good will that link us to the comrades in the universal brotherhood of nations.

"Strong in the sense of our own rights and inspired by as strong a sense of the rights of others, we live in peace and harmony with the world. Rich in the priceless possession and abundant resources, wherewith the unstinted bounty of God has endowed us, we are unselfishly glad when other peoples pass onward to prosperity and peace. That the great privileges we enjoy may continue, and that each coming year may see our country more firmly established in the regard and esteem of our fellow-nations, is the prayer that should arise in every thankful heart.

"Wherefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, designate Thursday, the 30th of November, next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly call upon my countrymen and upon all that dwell under the flag of our beloved country, then to meet in their accustomed places of worship to join in offering praise to Almighty God and devout thanks for the loving mercies He has given to us.

"In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Chicago, this 30th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-sixth.

"By the President.

Mr. Wyatt Newman was severely injured Monday by a "kickback" of a tree which he was cutting down. In falling the tree lodged against another, holding the butt on the stump. He was using an axe, cutting away a small retaining part, and when the tree cleared it kicked back, breaking his nose and lacerating his face. The injuries are painful, but not serious, and he will soon be out again.

Uncle Joe Lile Dead.

Uncle Joe Lile, a well known farmer and citizen, died at his home near Bancroft at 5 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon Oct. 25, after an illness of some months from catarrh of the stomach. He was a pioneer of the county and a man who has seen its many developments. He is survived by his widow and two daughters. Interment was in the family graveyard last Thursday afternoon, and was largely attended.

Everybody is urged to attend the meeting at the court house tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, at which time matters municipal will be discussed by all candidates for council who desire to make declarations.

The town lot sale to-day will draw many people to town. A free lot and $20 in gold to holders of the lucky tickets will attract hundreds, and these added to the lot hunters should make a lively day of it.

The round trip rate to Hodgenville Nov. 9 to the Lincoln memorial dedication will be $3.65 from here, on a special train that will leave early in the morning, returning that night.

The interest in the city council tickets tops other election matters, and it is anticipated that there will be a full vote polled for the various candidates.

Telephone and telegraph offices are arranging to care for election returns next Tuesday night, and there will be many people here from the surrounding sections to get the news.

Briz has some specials this week, and tells you in this paper.

Just a few more strenuous days, and the agony will be over, except to the defeated candidates. Of course they will be sore for a few days.

Some of the would-be councilmen are dangerously near exceeding the speed limit in their race.

What is Your Family Worth?

If your family is worth the best you can afford in house and food and clothes, is it not worth the best reading as well? And the best reading—best for boys and girls, best for men and women—is to be found in The Youth's Companion.

Of stories alone The Companion will print nearly 300 in 1912. With all the rest of the paper thrown in, and counting the glorious long serial stories, they cost the subscribers less than a cent apiece. Moreover, you will look long before you will find stories varied and interesting—stories of coolness in the face of peril, strange adventures with creatures of the forests and the sea, moving stories of life's obscure heroisms, stories breezy with good natured humor, quaint and curious character sketches.

Now is the time to subscribe, for you will receive free from the time your $1.75 is received all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1911, containing the opening chapters of Ralph D. Paine's great serial story of the Boxer rebellion, "The Cross and the Dragon." And there is the gift of The Companion Calendar for 1912, "On the New England Coast," lithographed in ten colors and gold. Only $1.75 now for 52 weekly issues, but on January 1, 1912, the subscription price will be advanced to $2.00.

ROARK

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clear, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Lower Prices and Better Service on Ham, Bacon and Dried Beef

It's next to impossible to, slice Boiled Ham, Dried Beef or Bacon by hand and not get several ragged or irregular slices per pound.

You don't like that kind of service and neither do we. That's just the reason why a few weeks ago we installed an improved meat slicing machine.

With this machine we can slice dried Beef to a tissue paper thinness and have each slice perfect. And we can slice Bacon and boiled Ham exactly as you desire it and have every slice the same and do it much quicker than we could by hand, therefore we have been able to shade our prices somewhat.

Swift's Premium Bacon
Swift's Premium Boiled Ham
Swift's Premium Dried Beef

are our leaders in these lines. Very choice meats most carefully and perfectly cured and as clean and appetizing as you ever saw. Will make you hungry just to see them. Call and see them and watch us slice your order.

L. E. RICE

We, as above, candidates for councilmen of the City of Greenville, ask the support and suffrage of the citizens of the town, for the following reasons:

1. We are proud of the progress made in our city along all lines, and as loyal and interested citizens promise, if elected, to do all in our power to continue generally this desirable movement.
2. We favor the vigorous enforcement of all laws, thus promoting the peace and prosperity of all our people.
3. We favor the extension of water and lights to the city limits, in all directions, and shall supply these for public use as far as means at our command will permit, and shall endeavor to secure reductions on present rates, and shall use all legitimate means to attain this.
4. We shall manage the affairs of the city on the most economic basis consistent with sound business principles, and shall improve the streets and alleys without favoring any section at the expense of another, as far as the city's funds will permit. We are also in favor of needed sanitary improvements, thus protecting the health of the city's inhabitants.
5. If we are elected we shall serve to the very best of our ability, and without salary or fee of any sort, returning the same to the public treasury for the improvement of the streets of our city.
6. We are not, nor shall we pledge ourselves to any candidate for Marshal, City Attorney, or any officer whom it is our duty to appoint, but if elected will select men who in our judgment are competent and will enforce the law. Or if the people prefer to elect these officers, we will, on a petition of 25 per cent. of the voters of the city, cause a poll to be opened at which a majority may elect these officers.

SOME COOKERY FRILLS

POTATO SOUP IS IMPROVED BY A DASH OF VINEGAR.

Individual Pate is Out of Date—Delicious Salad of Different Nuts and Fruits and Shredded Celery.

The usual simplicity of potato soup is improved by adding a dash of vinegar just before serving. As all may not like the flavor the cereal can be passed.

All fruit salads are improved by marinating in French dressing, though later served with mayonnaise.

Instead of the individual pate, it is more popular now to pass one or two large pates, each guest serving herself. Fill with macaroni, oysters or creamed sweetbreads.

Blancs or French rolls for formal use are more desirable than ever. The former should be the size of a foot-cup and a quarter-inch thick. A delicious salad was made from different nuts, white grapes, a little shredded grape fruit, pineapple, cut into cubes and shredded celery. Mask in mayonnaise or serve with a cream dressing.

When a salad is the usual breakfast dish, vary it by breaking it raw into the egg and cooking in hot water to the desired consistency. The flavor is quite different than when cooked in the shell.

Fingers of bread about four inches long, quarter of an inch wide and the same thickness buttered thickly and browned in a quick oven are delicious to serve with boiled eggs.

Salad is now usually passed in a salad dish, but when served directly on the individual plates an appetizing and artistic effect can be had by making nests of shredded lettuce or endive, in which are eggs made of cream cheese coated with spinach juice and sprinkled thickly with paprika or black pepper. Cover with mayonnaise.

In baking a cake, stir the flour in the batter and you will have a much more tender cake.

Good cranberries cannot be made if the sugar is allowed to roll in with the berries. After the cranberries are soft and strained through a colander add a scant pound of sugar to a quart of berries, bring to a boil and cook four minutes. Put three-quarters of a pint of boiling water on the berries when first cooked.

HOUSEHOLD.

For darning stockings use crochet cotton. It is preferable to darning cotton, as it does not harden when washed.

If your pies overflow in the oven insert a short piece of uncooked macaroni in the top crust. This is better than the paper funnel.

An excellent cleaner for painted surfaces is made as follows: Two quarts of hot water, two tablespoonfuls of turpentine, a pint of skimmed milk and enough soap to make a weak suds.

When steel knives and forks have become tainted with fish they can be rubbed with fresh orange or lemon peel, and the taint will disappear entirely.

When making a mayonnaise in which only the yolks of eggs are used, the economical housekeeper will use the whites for a dessert, such as apple snow, for frosting, or for meringue on a pie.

For Silk Cushions.

If you have silk-covered cushions in your house, you must have noticed how often the feathers or down comes through, giving the pillow a fuzzy, unsightly appearance. This could have been avoided, and can be the next time, by ironing the inside of the silk with an iron that has been rubbed with rhinoceros's wax.

This ironing, done before the pillow is made up, will act as a sort of thin varnish on the silk, and will prevent the feathers from working through.

Coffee Cream Cake.

One and one-half cups sugar, two of flour, two eggs, 2½ teaspoonfuls baking powder, pinch of salt, about three-fourths of a teaspoonful lemon, one-fourth cup butter, one tablespoonful coconut. Melt butter, break in eggs without beating, pour in one-third cup of milk half cup cold coffee; make in three layers.

Cream for filling—One pint milk in double boiler, one-half cup of flour, two eggs beaten, salt, essence, one cup sugar; boil ingredients.

Orange Baskets.

Cut as many oranges as will be required, leaving half the peel whole for the basket and a strip half an inch wide for the handles. Remove pulp and juice; use juice for making orange jelly. Place baskets in a pan of broken ice to keep upright. Fill with orange jelly. When ready to serve put a spoonful of whipped cream over the jelly in each basket. Serve in a bed of green leaves.

If by chance paint spots stick to window panes, do not use a knife to loosen them. A cloth wet in hot vinegar will clean them perfectly. A white porcelain bathtub that has grown brown may be most perfectly cleaned by the use of spirits of turpentine applied with a flannel cloth.

Sausage Roll.

Make a rich biscuit dough, roll out, put in each a fried sausage and pinch over like a turnover. Bake until brown.
